VOL. LXI: No. 20 — REDWOOD CITY, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1921 — ESTABLISHED 1859

WILLIAM HIGHTOWER IS CHARGED WITH MURDER

A warrant was sworn out in Judge Johnston's court in Daly City yesterday charging William Hightower with the murder of Father Patrick E. Heslin, whose body was found in a lonely cliff at Salada Wednesday night.

Hightower, who has been detained in San Francisco, will be brought to the county jail here this morning.

Father Heslin, who had been only ten days at Colma as pastor of the Catholic church there, was asked to go on a sick call at 9 o'clock on the evening of August 9. Accompanied by a stranger, he left on his errand of mercy and was not heard of again until his body was uncovered in two feet of sand in a wind swept spot not far from the county road at Salada Beach.

The priest was evidently lead to the lonely place and murdered.

Everything points to Hightower as the perpetrator of the fiendish crime. His motive being to receive a ransom or for the reward of $5000 offered for the recovery of the body.

The crime is one of the most diabolical and fiendish in the history of the country. The martyred priest left on an errand of mercy to give consolation and comfort to a supposed dying man, to give him the last rites of the church and comfort him in his passage from this Vale of Tears to the land beyond the grave. Little did Father Heslin dream that he was going to his death. Father Heslin died in the path of duty. When recovered the Sacred stole was around his neck and in his vest pocket was the Blessed Sacrament he had brought to administer to the supposed dying man. Such a crime deserves the severest punishment.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL IS NEEDED

Sequoia Union high school district needs a new school. Present quarters are inadequate. Continuation of the situation as it is today will ultimately block development of the district not only from the standpoint of residential growth but of industrial growth. Families will not settle where there are not first class schooling facilities for youngsters of every age. Factories will not locate where employes are denied opportunity to give their children every chance to obtain an education. These are material things to be sure, but they must be considered. Giving them consideration it is not necessary to forget that the real aim of all American communities should be to provide, above all things, the very highest type of educational facilities, make education the foundation of all growth instead of an afterthought.

Sequoia Union high school district, of which Redwood City is a part, has earned a high place as an educational center. For the last three years it has been working under a handicap, the hardest of all handicaps in school affairs, crowded quarters. Last year the district showed that it realized something must be done. By an overwhelming vote the district purchased the beautiful Pissis Park on the highway for a site for a new high school. This wonderful 40-acre tract, trees and gardens and all, is now the property of the district, paid for almost without effort. It is now up to the district to erect a high school building in the most beautiful high school site in all California. Funds for the construction of the building are to be provided for in a bond issue to be submitted to the people of the district on August 26. Every voter in Redwood City, every voter in the district should make it a duty to vote for the bonds.

SHIPPING BOARD DECLARES ITSELF

Already the members of the U. S. Shipping Board are giving pleasing evidence of the fact that President Harding knew what he was about in selecting such men to stand by the merchant marine. According to an Associated Press report "aggressive measures have been adopted by the shipping board to insure fair treatment for American merchant ships in the award of trading privileges in foreign ports. The board's policy is understood to rest on the proposition that other nations must give every proper opportunity to ships which fly the Stars and Stripes or else run the risk of encountering the retaliatory measures placed within the prerogative of the board by the new shipping act."

Last May the Republican Publicity Association, on the authority of a statement made by Winthrop L. Marvin, president of the American Steampship Owners' Assocation, intimated that retaliation might be restored to against British shipping combines if they and their supporters did not refrain from boycotting American lines. Mr. Marvin made the charge, which was never denied, that British spinners and cotton manufacturers declined to accept cotton from Galveston unless it was carried in British ships and under British insurance. Mr. Marvin declared that this action was a factor in causing the cut in the wages of American seamen. "That kind of thing is taking place all the time," said he. "We didn't want to cut wages, but we were driven to it." "If this latest game of British business men is persisted in, retaliation in some form is quite within the range of possibilities," declared the Assocation.

In July the Republican Publicity Association called the attention of the country to the fact that bids of the U. S. Shipping Board for the freightage of Egyptian cotton from Alexandria, submitted on request of the Alexandria Produce Association, had been turned down nothwithstanding the fact that those bids were 58 per cent lower than the bids of British shipping concerns. This Produce Association is composed of about a hundred members, sixteen of whom are charged with handling the cotton business of that country. Fifteen of the sixteen voted to accept the shipping board bid, and one held out against it. The Shipping Board bid per ton for carriage of Egyptian cotton to American ports was 25 shillings, the British bid was 60 shillings. But under the rules of this board the award had to be unanimous. Due to the action of the Liverpool conference lines in bringing influence to bear on the Produce Board, American ships were denied any opportunity to carry Egyptian cotton. Commenting on this the Association declared: "This sort of thing has gone on about long enough. If the British commercial outfit desires a stand-up and knock-down battle with the United States on the question whether or not we shall maintain a merchant marine and be entitled to fair treatment in matters of freight, we might as well peel off and go to it and never let up until those interests cry quits."

The new Shipping Board means business and it is amply clothed with authority by the Jones Merchant Marine law to make Great Britain sit up and take notice. These British shipowners who are determined to put the American merchant marine out of the running are going to discover very soon that they have not a Wilson administration to deal with. Mr. Wilson, it will be recalled, categorically refused to enforce Section 34 of the Jones Act which authorizes the President to give due notice of our intention to terminate treaty clauses with foreign countries which restricts the right of the United States to impose discriminating customs duties on imports entering this country in American vessels. He also refused to put other clauses of the law into operation which favored American ships. He was upheld in his refusal by a wealth of British propaganda set loose in this conutry. We can no longer sit idly by and permit British shipping concerns to plot against us and get away with it.

POSTPONING R. R. DEBT

President Harding took another long step toward normalcy when he asked Congress to give authority to the War Finance Corporation to purchase half a billion dollars worth of railway securities. That is approximately the balance owed to the government by the roads on account of additions and betterments made to the properties during the period of Federal control. It is in no sense a cancelation of the debt, but merely its postponment until such time in the future as the railroads can liquidate it without serious embarrassment to our transportation system.

"I believe it essential," said the President in his message to the Senate and House, "to restore railway activities and essential to the country's good fortune to hasten both funding and settleemnt." Mr. Harding knows, as every sound business man knows, that efficient transportation must be maintained in the interests of the public welfare. It is recognized by those conversant with the facts that the standard of railway service must inevitably fall unless the roads are given the financial relief asked for them by the President. They have exhausted their credits with industries that furnish them with supplies, such as steel and lumber of which they are the heaviest users, and rapid depreciation is sure to follow unless new funds are forthcoming for maintenance.

The President emphasizes the fact that the money is not to be appropriated for the purchase of bonds. It is already in the hands of the War Finance Corporation, lacking only Congressional authority for its use as railroad relief. "There is no thought to ask Congress for additional funds," declares Mr. Harding. "No added expense, no added investment is required on the part of the Government; there is no added liability, no added tax burden." How different is all this from the methods pursued by his predecessor in office. When more money was required to take care of the new burdens of expense loaded on to the roads by the Federal administration, the Treasury was asked to supply the funds and the taxpayer was called upon to increase his contributions to the cost of government.

The roads are co-operating with the Government in the effort to bring about a speedy and permanent financial settlement. To that end they have waived temporarily their claims for added compensation on account of labor inefficiency during the period of Government control, those claims to be adjudicated later through the courts. The way appears to be clear for early adjustment, a consummation that will be materially hastened if Congress grants the relief asked. With the roads in position to take care of their approached confidence.

The funding operation proposed by the President has the approval, and has been urged, by Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee. The inquiry conducted by that committee into the general railroad situation has convinced Senator Cummins that the railroads must be permitted to finance themselves if they are to be kept running. He points out that not only will the roads themselves be relieved, but all the industries to which the roads owe money will experience a marked revival, and the entire manufacturing situation will undergo a decided improvement. It can not be doubted that the wisdom of President Harding's recommendations will be seen by Congress and the necessary legislation speedily enacted.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The board o fsupervisors met in regular session Monday, August 8.

County Superintendent of Schools Roy W. Cloud addressed the board relative to the law which provides that all school districts within fifteen miles of the nearest high school district shall become a part of the high school district. Four districts in the county, Tobin, San Pedro, Jefferson and Visitacion, he explained are affected by this law, but these are now considering the formation of their own high school district, he said.

Superintendent of Schools Roy W. Cloud stated to the board that he contemplated a visit to the northern part of the State during the latter part of the month and that possibly he would extend his visit over the Oregon lines. He asked that he be given permission to leave the State for a period of ten days. The request was granted on motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor Francis.

Only one bid, that of W. W. Thompson of Redwood City, calling for oiling of the county highway around the poor farm, was received. The bid was considered excessive, and on motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor Francis, the same was rejected and a certified check ordered returned to the unsuccessful bidder.

Following this action the board, on motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor Francis, gave permissio nto the supervisors of the Second township to do the work under the supervision of the county engineer.

F. H. Bartlett, representing the California Pacific Title Insurance Company of Redwood City, presented a map of "Francis Tract," a new subdivision located northwest of Redwood City in the Second township. A resolution presented and read by Bartlett and calling for the acceptance of the map was adopted on motion of Supervisor Brown seconded by Supervisor Francis.

A report was received from County Engineer George A. Kneese stating that the contract for the construction of a reinforced concrete retaining wall on the La Honda-San Gregorio road, Station 189, in the Third township, and a contract for the construction of a similar retaining wall on the same road, Station 107, were completed, and recommending the acceptance of both contracts. The report of the county engineer was accepted and approved, on motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor MacBain.

County Engineer Kneese stated that he had plans ready for two additional walls on the La Honda road, to take care of two dangerous places on that thoroughfare. He said he would have the specifications for the work ready by the next meeting of the board.

A communication was received from Sheriff M. Sheehan recommending that the county offer a reward in connection with the kidnapping of Father Patrick Heslin at Colma on July 26. Supervisor MacBain addressed the board in the matter and stated that the abduction of Father Heslin was the most despicable crime in the history of San Mateo county and he believed that a suitable reward should be offered in an effort to apprehend the guilty parties. Following similar talks by other members of the board, it was decided, on motion of Superivsor MacBain, seconded by Supervisor Brown, that a reward of $1000 be offered by the county for informtaion leading to the arrest and conviction of Father Heslin's kidnappers.

The report of County Auditor J J. Shields, giving an estimate of the amount of money that can be drawn against the several funds of the county during the month of August, 1921, was received and ordered filed.

A claim of Mrs. Mary J. Hatch of San Mateo in the sum of $30 covering additional rental of a building at that place for a branch county jail, was rejected, on motion of Supervisor MacBain, seconded by Supervisor Francis.

A Bank of Italy patron said recently "The real reason why I do business with your institution is not entirely because you have the largest banking organization in the West, with statewide facilities, etc.—it is because you give my business an interested service, not just cold routine banking."

The Bank of Italy's interested service is based on a firmly grounded policy of endeavoring to anticipate and keep up with our customers' requirements. We try to treat every depositor just as we would like to be treated.
